REPARATIONS SECURITY BIG ISSUE IN PARIS, SAYS HERRIOT

Commission Must Be Final Judge On Execution

PARLEYS TODAY

London Conference Ready To Open Important Session

(French Wireless Through Reuter)
Paris, July 12.—In the Senate M. Herriot, replying to an interpellation by M. Polacare, declared: It is the Reparations Commission which, after having presented to the London Conference suggestions for the execution of the Dawes Plan, will declare whether the execution is real.

The Belgian and Italian Governments have accepted the basis of the Franco-British Note. The question of security is even more grave than that of reparations. Before knowing whether one will live rich or poor, it is necessary to know whether one will live. The Franco-British agreement will permit Germany to seek a path in peaceful evolution. If Britain and France separated, Germany would be delivered over to men of violence. The Franco-British rapprochement must detract in the way from France's legitimate rights.

A motion of confidence, introduced by M. Cheron, the President of the Republican Union, and M. Biebuyck-Martin, the President of the Democratic Left, was adopted by 235 votes to 10.

The French delegation to the London Conference will leave Paris on Tuesday, July 13.

(French Wireless Through Reuter)
Paris, July 12.—Criticism of the Franco-British agreement is becoming more and more accentuated in Germany. Herr Stresemann is reported to be drawing closer to the Nationalists. He stated in a speech at Eberfeld to a meeting of industrialists that economic liberation and military evacuation must be demanded.

(French Wireless Through Reuter)
Paris, July 12.—A debate will take place in the House of Commons on July 14 on foreign affairs. Mr. MacDonald will make a statement on the Paris agreement.

(French Wireless Through Reuter)
Belgium, July 12.—M. Carton de Wiart and Vandervelde in the course of a debate on the budget expressed the hope that the Franco-British defensive agreement would be completed by an Anglo-Belgian agreement. M. Theunis and Hymans will leave for London on Tuesday with the confidence of the Belgian Chamber.

(French Wireless Through Reuter)
Paris, July 12.—Mr. Owen Young, the American delegate to the London Conference, told American journalists: "My mission is not definite. I am waiting for instructions to permit me to play the part of an accredited arbitrator."

(Reuter's Service)
Berlin, July 2.—Germany's hopes from the London Conference are becoming anxiety and apprehension, said the Chancellor, Herr Marx, in the course of an address to pressmen. The German Government, he added, intends honestly to enforce the Dawes plan, but with the stipulation that the plan must be carried out by all parties in letter and spirit. "If France demands the maintenance of the Treaty, she must understand that we insist on the preservation of our rights under it."

Soviet To Have Embassy At Peking

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

(BY UNITED PRESS)

NATIONALITY IS AGAIN ISSUE IN THE MIXED COURT

Claim Of Foreign Registration Raised In Civil Case

The claim of foreign Consular registration was raised again in the Mixed Court yesterday in a civil action brought by W. W. Fowler & Co. against Daung Tsung-ki for U. S. $18,600. The amount is alleged due in connection with a shipment of 257 tons of corrugated bars for which, it is alleged, the defendant gave fifteen promissory notes for U. S. $400, only one being paid.

The case came before Assessor Bucknell and Magistrate Han, Mr. F. W. Hadley appearing for the plaintiffs. Sub-inspector Ring testified that he had taken the defendant into custody on Saturday. Chief Inspector Wheeler stated that when questioned the defendant said he had a certificate of registration from the Portuguese Consulate and that a letter to this effect had been received subsequently from the Portuguese Consul.

The defendant's story was that he had been born in Macao and had come to Shanghai when 15 years old. When addressed by the Court's official Cantonese interpreter, however, he was unable to understand and all questions had to be put in the local dialect. It was also stated that the defendant or a man of the same name had appeared in several previous cases at the Mixed Court, and that a month ago, when he appeared on a subpoena and gave testimony in a case he made no claim to Portuguese citizenship.

Civil War Exists In Brazilian State

(Reuter's Service)
Buenos Aires, July 12.—A virtual state of civil war between the revolutionaries and the Federal Government exists at Sao Paulo. The censorship is very strict, but official communication from Rio de Janeiro indicate that bombardment of Sao Paulo is in progress. The Federal troops, who were earlier reported within the city, have apparently retired. The rebels control the city and the surrounding country. An official communique states that the Loyalists are advancing and concentrating their fire on certain points of Sao Paulo with satisfactory results.

TIENTSIN IS IN DANGER OF DESTRUCTION BY FLOOD; RIVER 12 TIMES NORMAL

Only Drastic Action Can Save City, Say Experts; Villages To North And South May Have To Be Sacrificed By Cutting Dykes; Business Firms Moving Cargoes To Upper Storeys

(Reuter's Pacific Service)
Tientsin, July 14.—Tientsin is threatened by disastrous floods, according to the Peking and Tientsin Times. Chinese and foreign officials held a conference this morning and agreed to repair the outer and inner dykes around the city.

The Haiho Conservancy Commission's engineer, M. Pincione, recommends cutting the dyke of the Peliunho, thus allowing the flood-waters to the sea north and south of Tientsin. This would flood many villages, but the paper asserts that it is the only way of saving Tientsin. It advocates immediate cutting of the dyke and the placing of armed guards to prevent attacks by the frightened villagers, who can be removed to the city for safety.

The floods have been caused by heavy rains in the hinterland. It is estimated that the Haiho is discharging 1,200 cubic meters a second or 12 times the river's capacity.

Experts state that it is beyond the power of human agency to prevent a vast area flooding. Only drastic action, in their opinion, can save Tientsin.

The German Bund was today cleared absolutely in order to build a dyke if necessary. Many firms have already moved their cargo to upper storeys.

(Eastern News Agency)
Peking, July 14.—Owing to the heavy rain extending over several days in the districts near Peking the rivers are inundated, especially near the Lakaohiao, where the railway track is under water, the embankment of the Yangtze River is broken it is feared.

The Ministers of Home Affairs and Communications as well as the Governor of the City of Peking went to the spot on the evening of the 13th and inspected the state of the flood. It there is further rain the water in the river will surely destroy the embankment and will endanger the city of Peking. Traffic the north of Nankow is interrupted.

Many wild tales were abroad early in the day concerning what was likely to happen. One was to the effect that a large detachment of "Reds" would march on the building and seize it during the morning. A great many Russians, evidently expecting excitement, gathered along the Bund and Whangpoo Road in the morning, but there was no disturbance and gradually the crowd thinned out of its own accord or was moved along by the police.

It was rumored that "White" guards were established in the building equipped with bombs and other weapons to repel any Red attack—a rumor evidently the outgrowth of recent dispatches from Peking.

Late yesterday afternoon, however, the thirty or so refugees from the ships at Woosung, who have been housed in the Consulate, quietly quitted the place, and this was about the only activity that occurred.

It is now stated that Mr. Ellender, as Soviet representative in Shanghai, will take over the building today. Meanwhile, a police guard is being maintained. Officials stated last night that no trouble was anticipated.

(Eastern News Agency)
Peking, July 13.—M. Karakhan has received a reply from the Waichiaoou dated July 9 stating that the Russian warships in Shanghai will be watched by the Chinese navy in the interest of Russia. M. Karakhan again wrote on July 13 urging that the warships should be handed over to the authorities of Soviet Russia as soon as possible.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

COMPOSITION IN BANKRUPTCY IN MOLLER CASE

Provides For More Than Five Shillings In The Pound

A composition in bankruptcy providing for the payment of "more than 5/- in the £" in the case of Mr. N. E. A. Moller was approved by Judge Sir Skinner Turner in the British Supreme Court yesterday.

Mr. H. L. Ward appeared for the Yangtze Insurance Association, Ltd., the retreating creditor, and the Shanghai Dock and Engineering Co., Ltd. The official receiver Mr. R. F. Le Mesurier, stated that in his opinion the composition was calculated to benefit the general body of creditors, and there was nothing to prevent its being approved. Mr. Ward told the Court there were two things he wished to know—in the first place what precisely was the land mortgage, and second, what price charges, if any were there in connection with it. The property in question was described as "Fairland," but he wanted to know what lots were included. He also asked for an order regarding the taxed costs in connection with the mortgage.

In approving the composition the Judge remarked that it was well in advance of the minimum under the Act. The approval would be subject to approval with regard to the documents necessary to carry it out, a full declaration to be made of the land involved and the charges existing thereon, the taxed costs to be added to the claims of the creditors concerned.

Canton Consuls Protest Plots To Injure Foreigners

(Reuter's Pacific Service)
Peking, July 10.—The Note from the Consular Body at Canton to the Canton Administration concerning plots against foreigners in Canton, which was briefly mentioned yesterday, was as follows:—

Your Excellency,
Canton, June 25.—I have the honor on behalf of my colleagues and myself to bring to your notice the fact that information which reaches us from various sources indicates that agitators, plotting against foreign Governments, who are prepared to adopt forcible methods against the representatives of such foreign Governments in order to attain their objects, appear to be using Canton as a meeting place and a point from which to carry on their activities. While we feel assured that the Canton Authorities are endeavoring to suppress such activities and to prevent the carrying out of such inimical intentions, the impression prevails that those authorities are not taking sufficiently vigorous steps in that respect.

I, therefore, have the honor to request on behalf of my colleagues and myself assurances from Your Excellency that the Canton Authorities will not fail to take prompt measures to suppress such plots or movements if found to be within their jurisdiction, or alternatively to communicate with the local representative of the Power concerned so as to enable him to take such steps as the occasion may require.

Bandits Continue Active In Anhui

(Reuter's Pacific Service)
Peking, July 10.—The latest foreign reports from Anhui state that Big Sword Tuft are still active. The Government troops are on the way to Luanchow and are expected to reach there within a couple of days. The Chamber of Commerce at Luanchow offered the sum $20,000 to leave, but the tuft declined the idea of being bought with that small sum.

Up to the present the gang has not interfered with private residences, but are confining their activities to yamens and other official quarters. They secured a large supply of arms and ammunition and military stores at Luanchow. The bandits announce that they rose against the oppression of officials and the generally unsatisfactory conditions imposed upon the people by the local government. Their object is to fight the despotism of the militarists.

Representatives of the Russian Church and the "Chinese Mission" have wired to the Russian mission at Wuhu requesting that measures be taken for their protection against these tuft.

Washington Is Unable To Agree With China's Contentions

(BY UNITED PRESS)
Washington, July 14.—It is stated here that the American note replying to the communication from Peking with reference to the Chinese Eastern railway will be delivered this week. The note will reiterate that the United States government holds China responsible, as trustee, for the road's creditors. Replying to China's contention that the affairs of the Chinese Eastern concern only Russia and China, the note will set forth that China apparently seeks to ignore American participation in control of the road, through which China's interests were preserved. It will also point out that China ignores America's claims for maintenance expenditures during the Allies' Siberian expedition.

Short Story Club Soon To Publish Volume Of Fiction

Collection Of Oriental Tales
By Local Writers To Appear Shortly

Local talent in writing is to be exhibited before the eyes of an admiring public very soon when the first concerted effort of the group known as the "Short Story Club of Shanghai" appears in book form in the early fall.

The president of the club, Mr. Verne Dyson, has just announced that the Oriental press will bring out the volume of 25 or 30 stories written by club members, in September. The book will sell in the local bookshops for $3 Mex.

All the stories are written from the Oriental angle, following the policy adopted by the club early in the year. China, Japan, the Philippines, India and other portions of the East have been selected by the local authors as the scenes of their plots. The stories run the gamut of emotions from high tragedy to pure fun. A surprising knowledge of Chinese psychology has been revealed and a real grasp of Chinese custom, in the stories on China.

Three of the manuscripts have appeared locally in the anniversary supplement of the North-China Daily News. These are "Obedience," by Verne Dyson; "A Spirit of Manchuria," by Arthur de C. Sowerby; and "Chong Yok and I Outwit the Devil," by Mrs. Marguerite Connel.

Comparison

It is obvious that where claims are made, comparison is inevitable. Comparison of the NEW Columbia Grafonola with ordinary gramophones has given it a place in music that no other gramophone has attained in so short a space of time. Comparison of the "NEW PROCESS" Records (without Scratch) with ordinary records reveals all the deficiencies of the latter.

To hear either one is to enjoy but one-half of a great achievement. To hear them in combination is to experience the sensation of a new experience. But to hear them in combination with ordinary gramophones is to understand the enthusiasm of master musicians and music-lovers alike.

The accused, who was charged with driving a motor vehicle without a license, told the Court that he had found the truck standing at the curb in Yangtse-poo Road. "I only took it for a short run," he explained.

Findings were ordered by Judge Sir Skinner Turner in the British Supreme Court yesterday, when the Allen Luen firm brought an action against the Royal Insurance Co., Ltd., for Tls. 1,550, alleged to be the proportion payable by defendant company under an award by Mr. A. D. Bell on May 1, 1924, in an arbitration with regard to a fire on plaintiffs' premises in Nanking. Mr. P. W. Golding appeared for plaintiffs and asked for pleading, to which Mr. H. L. Wadd, for defendants, agreed.

Owners of hire bicycles met on Sunday and unanimously passed a resolution, opposing the licensing conditions, recently promulgated by the Shanghai Municipal Council. They maintain that no restriction is imposed on bicycles in England, after whose traffic regulations the International Settlement hire-laws are patterned so they should not be required to take out licences and that the new regulations are not equitable since these vehicles take up little space and do not tear and wear the roads.

The Ching Pao of Peking is responsible for the information that on the 9th instant the Walchapo formally notified the British Minister, at the request of the Ministry of Agriculture and Commerce, to close down the Stock Exchange owned by Mr. St. Clair Smallwood in the Legation Quarter at the earliest date.

Instructions have been given by the Generalissimo at Canton to General Li Fuk-lam ordering him to start work immediately in suppressing the piracy evil in the districts. General Li is ordered to proceed to Shunak, Heung-shan and villages in the Namhoi district, to assist the naval forces and district guards in attacking the pirates' strongholds.

It is reported in the vernacular press that, in compliance with a request from the British Minister, Sir Ronald Macleay, the Ministry of Agriculture and Commerce will engage a British expert as an adviser to the Trade Mark Bureau.

The Peking News Agency learns indirectly from the French Legation that the French Minister on Wednesday filed a third protest with the Watchapo regarding the Sino-German settlement. This note opposes the rehabilitation of the Deutsch-Asiatische Bank on the ground that the premises of the old bank were mortgaged to the Banque Industrielle de Chine. The German Bank shall not be allowed to make use of the security, the premises in question, until the Chinese Government has repaid the loan. The note says, "This protest was lodged on instructions from Paris."

According to Chinese reports, the Executive Committee of the Peking Tram Car Company, says the Chung Mei Service, has decided to donate all fares collected on the first of every month to the fund for the payment of the police. That is to serve as the Company's contribution to-

Merchants running opium-smoking houses in Canton are also to use the strike as a means to strengthen their demands to the Government. They claim for a reduction of the opium license tax. Hundreds gathered in a meeting recently and passed resolutions; to start the strike, to petition the anti-opium authorities, and to organize a guild or union of their own. Such a strike, it is reported, will affect the receipts of the Anti-Opium Office to the amount of thousands of dollars a day.

A firm in Colombo, it is understood, is contemplating the canning of Ceylon pineapples with a view to exporting supplies to Indian and Australian markets. Their interest in the product will possibly result in the early establishment, in that island, of a large and remunerative industry, for which the natural conditions are very favorable and the means of production comparatively simple.

There was a very striking case of a man being struck by lightning near the Dutch Folly on the Bund, says the Canton Gazette. The deceased was a sailor on board the s.s. Him Lee, which carries cargoes between Canton and Hongkong. The unfortunate sailor and two of his friends were chattering together, when suddenly he was struck by lightning and killed.

The New World Amusement Co. of Canton which rented the East Garden from the Government some time ago, now owes the Government $16,000 for rents, at a rate of $2,000 a month. The Police Department has warned the Company to settle immediately, otherwise its furniture and fittings will be auctioned to recover the debt, says the Canton Gazette.

The removal of the Far Eastern Revolutionary Committee from Chita to Babarovsk has been completed with the departure from Chita of the 5th Headquarters of the Red Army on June 29. On the same day, Gen. Ubunwich, Commander-in-Chief of the Red Army in the Far East, also left Chita for his new headquarters.

General Chang Hsueh-liang, son of the Mukden war lord, has definitely declined the advisership offered him by the Peking Government in connection with the coming Russo-Chinese Conference. The idea of appointing him as an adviser to the Conference is based upon the assumption that, by accepting the offer, he could be asked to serve as a link between the Peking Government and General Chang Tso-lin, who is known to have been opposed to the Sino-Russian Agreement on general principles.

The American University Club will give a reception in honor of the students of Tsing Hua College who are going to the States to enter colleges in August, according to the decision of the Executive Committee at a meeting held at the Union Club yesterday. Three new members of the Executive committee attended the meeting for the first time yesterday. They are Mr. J. B. Sawyer, representing California, Fred See representing Wisconsin, and Mr. Verne Claire, representing Princeton.

A Tientsin telegram received here yesterday announces the death of Nieh Shih-chung, ex-Tuchun of Anhui, at Tientsin on the 12th.

The remains of Chien Nung-hsun, ex-premier, arrived from Tientsin yesterday at the North Station. A number of local officials and friends of the deceased paid their last respects in the special coach, which left later in the day for Kashi, his native place.

The Peking Police Headquarters is enlisting 500 police to take the place of those who have resigned or deserted their posts, as the result of the non-payment of the police expenses by the Government. Many unemployed have registered their names, since they believe that, with the enforcement of the new tax, the police will get their regular pay.

A circular telegram has been sent by the Ministry of Interior in Peking to the provincial authorities stating that of late the Chinese Bolsheviks have widely circulated their propaganda in Peking, Tientsin, Shanghai and Hankow and instructing them to devise effective measures for the arrest of such peace-disturbers.

The merchants in the south city of Peking will erect a monument eulogizing Marshal Feng Yushiang, Inspector of the National Army, who has done many things for the welfare of the people there.

The former German Club and Recreation Ground, Hankow, which was taken back by the Chinese some time ago, has now been opened by a group of Chinese merchants as a night garden where cinema shows and other amusements are provided. With the coming fall it is understood that the present buildings will be pulled down and a modern market will be built upon the site.

The overflow of Chinese promoters from the Russian Bund in Hankow is gradually making its way along the British Bund without notice being taken. The other evening an old gentleman seated on the War Memorial was pulled down and a modern market will be built upon the site.

In view of the unprecedented rise of water around Changsha and the consequent disastrous floods, General Chao Heng-ti, on July 4, went to Houtse-shih, the highest point near the Changsha bund, and from there appealed in worship to the god of the river.

The ceremony consisted of sacrificing a pig and a sheep which were fastened to heavy stones and cast into the flood. It appears that the Chinese believe that the rise in the river is created by angry dragons in the bed of the stream, and it is hoped that the sheep and pig may appease their ire.

According to a new arrival in Peking from Lungchow, in the deal of night one day last week, large hailstones fell over the district for an hour and a half. Fortunately it fell at night, and no human beings or animals were killed. However, much damage was done to the buildings, and crops in the field. Some 20 villages have suffered.

First World Flight Planned In 1804

Belgian Balloonist Proposed To Make Journey
Round The Globe

Probably very few of the millions who follow the progress of the American and British aviators around the world know that the idea of circumnavigating the globe in the air is 120 years old. It was in 1804, when the balloon of the Montgolfier brothers was a mere baby of twenty-one years, that a Belgian aeronaut named Guillaume-Eugene Robertson proposed to the scientific societies of Europe the construction of a huge aerostat for an aerial voyage encircling the earth. This aerostat, the Minerve, was to be a regular air cruiser, equipped with all comforts and conveniences, and staffed by sixty scientists who would make geographical, astronomical, meteorological and other observations.

The plan was set forth in a pamphlet published in French at Vienna. It was received indifferently, and the matter was dropped until 1820, when Robertson reissued his memorandum, this time at Paris. Once more he failed to obtain support, and the execution of his idea had to wait another hundred and four years.

Robertson was a disciple of Charles, associate of the Montgolfiers in the invention of the aerostat. He called himself a "physicist." This Belgian with the Scottish surname was, to say the least, a rather mysterious character, a combination of pioneer, scientist and charlatan. He undoubtedly possessed ideas and courage, and in an age when the art of flying was regarded as a kind of cross between acrobatics and semi-scientific swindle he professed faith in the future of aerial navigation.

Robertson's memorandum is entitled "La Minerve, Vaisseau Aerien, Destiné aux Découvertes et propose a toutes les Academies de l'Europe, par le Physicien Robertson." The Minerve, Aerial Vessel, Designed for Discoveries, and proposed to all Academies of Europe, by the Physicist Robertson. He describes himself as a late professor of the Central School of the Department de l'Ouarthe, and a member of the Societe Galvanique, the Societe d'Emulation de Liege, and of the Society for the Encouragement of the Sciences and Arts of Hamburg.

The first edition was issued at the printing office of S. V. Degeon in Vienna; the second bears the imprint of Hocquet, Paris 1820, and is dedicated to Professor Volta, the pioneer of electrical science.

LOOKS FAR AHEAD
Robertson starts off with a spirited introduction. "He who sets limits to science and art was not born to cultivate them!" he exclaims. "We may expect everything from time, chance and since the discovery of aerostats, and to admit that their perfection presents the greatest difficulties in regard to the required knowledge, financial sacrifices and personal devotion. Savants who have never discovered anything and who, seated at the fireside with their compasses, never seek the unknown except in the known, need not alarm the genius. Time is with him, maturing everything, disclosing sooner or later new levers to human power in the arts, in chemistry and mechanics."

After continuing his rambles at the scholars who, lacking the courage to ascend in a balloon, yet discourse learnedly about the art of flying, this early believer in evolution announces that he has conceived the happy idea of presenting to all the academies of Europe and all scientific societies "an aerostat imposing by its design, astounding by its performances and useful by its results in reaching all points of the globe."

A magnificent scheme, indeed. Robertson is indignant that aerostatics, "this most beautiful achievement of the French genius," has never received any financial assistance on the part of the mighty. He quotes the single exception which proves his rule: A certain M. Pauli of Geneva was offered by a Marshal of France 50,000 francs as a subsidy for his experiments. But, on the whole, for lack of funds aeronautics went the way of all great discoveries; its development was arrested. Robertson describes his ship:

A DREAM SHIP

"The aerostatic machine called the Minerve, proposed by Professor Robertson, will have a diameter of 150 feet and will be capable of raising 73,954 kilograms, equivalent to 149,037 French pounds. The precautions and cares that will be taken in

(China Press Correspondence)

Nanchang, Kiangsi, July 10.—The Famine Relief Committee of Kiangsi met yesterday at the Commercial Club Rooms, made up of the following Chinese and foreigners: Yang Chin, president of Provincial Assembly, Chang Qi-chao, vice-president, Chamber of Commerce; Hsing Shao-hen, president of Agricultural Association; Chen Kan-ling, president of Benevolent Association; Shaw Chia-kwang, school principal and interpreter; Han Shan-chi, of the Educational Association; Dr. Geo. Hydenberg, head of Nanchang Hospital; W. E. Schurbert, M. E. Missionary; C. E. Draper, principal of Nanchang Academy; L. R. Craighill, American Church Mission; Ben H. Schmidt, Y.M.C.A.

This Committee was addressed by the National Famine Relief Committee of Peking. Tiao Ben-chang, District Governor, and Chen King-shan, gentryman, were invited to sit in with the committee.

Reports were made as to the height of the water which is still on all but the very highest rice fields and will hold up work for at least ten days longer. On the higher places the farmers are already plowing and preparing for the next planting.

The question before the committee is how best to help the situation. The suggestion was made that only seed be supplied to the farmers in return for an equivalent amount of work on the dikes and that nothing be given the farmers at present until the need arises. At present most of them still have food and it was estimated that about thirty percent can supply their own rice need; the other seventy percent will need help. Magistrates of all of the flooded area are discussing the situation and they will report to the Committee on Friday afternoon.

The Famine Relief Committee recently for the whole of Kiangsi Province has about $102,000 but that will by no means cover the need. Locally the people have raised about $40,000 and that is going to relieve immediate suffering and taking care of the sick and homeless.

It is estimated that it will take about $300 per family for seed rice and the funds we have on hand will in that case only supply about 3,600 families and there are a great many more than that in the province.

The resolution passed was this, in substance: The farmers are to be supplied with enough seed rice to get their needs and then are to put in the work on repairing the dikes until they have paid back their share, each man to have a guarantor to see that he fulfills his part of the bargain.

At present it is planned to build the dikes in a temporary way so as to relieve the low lands and take care of the autumn rice and then at low water this winter, when the farmers have little to do, to put in the permanent work.

KUKIANG STREETS FLOODED
(China Press Correspondence)
Kukiang, Kiangsi, July 12.—The Yangtze at Kukiang is said by old Chinese residents to be higher than at any time in the past fifty years, and it is daily getting higher. The main streets of Kukiang are all under water, and one now goes shopping in a sampan. Many poor people are already in distress and are asking for help and a place to live on Kukiang's high places.

The land around the railway station is all submerged and the bridge between Kukiang and Nanchang is down according to some reports. If the water gets another foot higher it will overflow the dikes on the north side of the river and inundate a large fertile, rice-growing area. This will bring famine conditions almost at once.

At Nanchang the Kan and Fu rivers have broken through three large dikes and already people are starving. The famine relief fund is being used to alleviate some of the suffering but there are grave fears that the worst is still to come. Numerous incidents are related of the drowning of people who were caught unprepared and without a chance to get away.

Washington, July 12.—The United States has informed Britain and France of her willingness to agree conditionally to the Tangier Convention, signed in Paris, but declines to participate in the actual administration of the zone.

NOTICED THEM ILL?

Have you noticed how that the weather is these days? Among the congealed ones in Wong Ah-yi, coffee, Wong was found Saturday night hiding in the residence of Mr. G. Ono, 63 Ping-liang Road, and appeared at the Mixed Court yesterday to explain the matter.

"I went inside the house to sleep," he informed the Court, "because it was too cold outside." So they assigned him enclosed sleeping quarters for the next seven days, by the end of which time may be the warm weather will have arrived.

A Success

I met him at the sanitarium. Somehow we got acquainted and bowed together in spirit by grace of congeniality.

He was a fine-looking man, a typical American with a clear, quick eye, a handsome, smiling mouth, a sensitive mouth flashing an occasional humorous expression from under a beaming, close-cropped mustache, and altogether a general air of force, self-reliance and success.

You could see he was a success just to glance at him. He looked dominant. He radiated assurance, resourcefulness, unacquaintance with defeat.

Yet they wouldn't let him walk. He was pushed about in a wheeled chair by an attendant. His skin had a puffy appearance. He slept a good deal.

We got to talking one sunny afternoon out on the verandah.

and he told me of his career. It was distinctly American.

It was the quite common account of a poor and friendless boy fighting his way to the top.

He had enjoyed little schooling.

Most of his young life was spent about a Western coal mine in hard, stunting labor. Kicks and cuffs were his treatment those days. Yet always within him burned an insatiable ambition.

He studied in his spare hours. He applied himself. By and by he won favor with his bosses and was promoted. Once started on the way up his advance was rapid.

He became foreman, manager, owner. He was a hard fighter. He fought them all, his rivals, the business astutest, sharpest, and capitalistic potentates. And he won.

It meant a year of grilling work incessant watchfulness, unflagging activity. But day after day, night after night, he was on the job. He forced victory. He dogged disaster. He held on like a bulldog.

For he had determined to be a millionaire.

He succeeded. Now he was fifty-five. Last year he reckoned up his worldly goods as of value two million and a half.

Meanwhile his three children had died. He had gone to live in New York, where he had no acquaintances except his bankers.

His wife was with him at the sanitarium, a prematurely old tired-looking woman, with a sweet glance and a pathetic air of mothering toward him.

"Yes, sir," said, "I beat 'em. I beat the game. I won out. It took a life full of pretty hard grinding to do it, but I did it." And he leaned against the chair-back, shut his eyes, and smiled.

Next day I was talking to the physician who had charge of his case.

"What's the matter with that man?" I asked. "How's he getting along?"

"You mean that Western millionaire there?"

"Yes."

"Oh, he has Bright's disease. He won't live six months. His wife knows it. He doesn't. There's no use telling him."

DRESS

By Mary Marshall

The newest sort of negligee is of the slip and "throw" variety. In other words there is one piece consisting of a sleeveless slip that goes on over the head. Many of them are entirely pleated from neck to hem, soft, light, clinging—held in place by a cord or ribbon at the waist. Then there is the throw, which consists of a little coat with short or flowing sleeves—usually richly trimmed with lace, marabou or ostrich.

Sometimes the two pieces are bought together. Often the fastidious woman chooses the two parts separately. Slips that she wears under her summer frocks may in fact be turned into charming negligees by wearing them under throws in interesting contrast. Some of the most charming effects are produced by choosing contrasting rather than matching colors. Thus an orange throw may be worn over a blue slip, or a powder blue throw over orchid. There is really no limit to the interesting effects that may be produced by combining different pastel tones in this way.

The sketch shows a smart effect produced by a straight, sleeveless satin slip edged with artificial flowers made of ribbon. The throw is of georgette edged with ostrich fringes—really nothing in either garment that would arouse the indignity of the home dressmaker.

These negligees should make strong appeal to the young woman who spends the summer months trotting about from one country house to another, whiling away the months between school or college semesters visiting first one friend and then another, with short stopovers at her own home for the occasions of a house party of her own. For when you wish to carry but light luggage you may make the slip of an evening or afternoon frock into a negligee by the simple addition of a few yards of georgette and a bit of ostrich fringe made into a little throw.

Chiffon negligee trimmed with ostrich and worn over sleeveless satin slip.

light and thick, a little water or milk is added and the mixture is turned into a pan and cooked on the top of the oven.

The puffy omelet is made by separating the eggs first, beating whites and yolks separately, adding milk or water to the yolks and then combining with the whites before putting into the omelet pan.

A soufflé or omelet soufflé is simply a puffy omelet baked in the oven. If it is sweetened it is usually called a savory soufflé, otherwise it is known as a sweet omelet.

What makes a Spanish omelet is the seasoning of pepper, onions, and tomatoes.

Once having acquired the knack of omelet making, variety can be gained by adding to the mixture creamed spinach, creamed asparagus, stewed tomatoes, creamed ham, creamed chicken, chopped cooked bacon, creamed mushrooms or creamed oysters.

WISE AND OTHERWISE

ODD FASHIONS

Real porcupine needles have been added to the list of possible trimmings by a certain distinguished milliner, who uses them to trim a small cloche. They are laid in groups of four.

WHEN IS AN OMELET?

In truth there is practically no limit to the variety of the omelet. There are French omelets and Spanish omelets, Swedish omelets, Danish omelets and German omelets, creamy omelets, sweet omelets, and puffy omelets, not to mention omelet soufflés.

Sometimes the question is raised as to which is the really "correct" way to make an omelet? Again one asks whether a baked omelet or omelet soufflé is really an omelet at all.

Here are a few general facts on the subject.

As generally understood a French omelet is one in which the whites and yolks of the eggs are not separated before they are beaten. The eggs are broken into a bowl, whole and beaten

BOBBIE AND HIS PA

BY WM. F. KIRK

Last night Pa brought home a suit of clothes for me which he bought at a sale.

What kind of cloth is it? said Ma.

Sail cloth, said Pa. Ha, ha. Do not be idiotic, said Ma. I asked what kind of cloth it is that suit.

Why, said Pa, that is Serge. I should think that a keen lady shopper like you would know what kind of cloth that is.

Did the nice man at the store tell you this was serge? said Ma.

He didn't hat to tell me, said Pa. I know serge when I see it. Try on this suit, Bobbie, said Pa.

Never mind, Bobbie, said Ma. How much did you pay for this set of garments? said Ma to Pa.

Fifteen bucks, said Pa. It was a grate bargain.

You have been jipped, to use sum of yure own deer words, said Ma. That sent serge. It is sum kind of paper, I guess, said Ma. Be careful how you handel it, said Ma, or it will fall to peeces like dandy-line fuzz, said Ma. After this, said Ma, I wish you wud let me pick out Bobbie's sutes, said Ma.

I doant know, said Pa. I always pick out my own sutes at the tailor shop.

Yes, said Ma, but tailors of the sort you go to, said Ma, always have good cloth. You shud never buy a boys sute at a cheap sail, said Ma. This is terrible shoddy. Talk it back in the morning, said Ma, wen the Eastern sun is peeping ore the hills, said Ma. Talk it back & git yure munny, & after this I will buy Bobbie's sutes.

Then Pa didn't say no more, he looked kind of cheap like that blue serge sute & I felt sorry for Pa, his hart is in the rite place but his eyes is punk at telling good sutes from bad sutes, I guess.

Am I to understand that I must go back like a sheep with this sute.

You are, said Ma & git the money back & let me buy Bobbie's sutes.

All rite, said Pa, I guess that's that, said Pa.

That's what it is, said Ma. The man runs a good store, said Pa. He has a good naim.

I shud think he wud guard it moar cairful, said Ma. He had no rite to sell you this sute, can see daylite thru it even in this darkened room, said Ma.

I guess I will haf to hurry up & grow up so I can buy my own sutes, then I will go to a swell tailor & say, What have you in Tweeds? & if I have any little boys I will let thare mother buy thare sutes.

Pa. He has a good naim.

Changshu Visited
By $40,000 Blaze

(China Press Correspondence)

Changshu, Ku, July 12.—Private indulgence in "personal liberty" was responsible for a $40,000 fire that burned up more than a block in the busiest section of our city, just outside the South Gate at 2 a.m. this morning.

A seller of birds and small animals, used for pets, lived with his wife upstairs above the shop in the center of the block. It was the custom of the pair to cook midnight supper on a brazier in their bed room. In this they were accustomed to burn the bamboo shavings left from the manufacture of the bird cages.

It was their habit to indulge freely at these midnight suppers in plenty of wine. They followed their custom last night.

At a little before two the neighbors were roused to find the house of the old couple in flames. The occupants of this building had managed to get out, close the door and withdraw to parts unknown. They left considerable str behind them.

Three tea shops, one three-story high; three hotels, one open this year; the offices of two launch lines to Shanghai and two to So-chow; and about twenty more business enterprises had nothing left of their buildings but a mass of ruins in less than an hour.
The amount of merchandise and equipment in these houses was not large or the damage would have been much greater.

CHIEF FIGURES IN NEWS OF THE DAY.

ARTHUR LEHMAN & LADY LIDLOW
DR. WILLIAM J. MAYO & REV. DR. V. N. GUTHRIE

The London home of Lady Lidlow, whose first husband was Sir Julius Werber, diamond king, has been robbed of jewels valued at $2,500,000, believed to be the most stupendous robbery on record. Dr.
William Norman Guthrie, pastor of the Church of St. Marks in the Bourne, in New York, leader of the modernists in the Protestant Episcopal Church, has finally bowed to the orders of Bishop Manning and eliminated the so-called pagan dances and similar affairs that had been featured in his historic church. Dr. William J. Mayo, of Rochester, Minn., world-famous surgeon, told delegates to the American Medical Association convention in Chicago that spleen removal in future would supplant removal of the appendix in the hunt for the ally of the human frame. Arthur Lehman, New York banker, has given $200,000 to Harvard University for an administration building.

by the West of Naha and is including NW ward. Another typhoon is passing to the north of Phoo NW ward. Cyclonic storm over the N. of the Yellow Sea and over Shanghai. Weak monsoon along our coasts. Cyclonic circulation over the East of the
